Does this sound like you?

- ✗ You answer the same 5 questions on Messenger all day long.
- ✗ You reply to customer DMs at 11pm because you can't miss a booking.
- ✗ You lose customers because you can't reply fast enough during busy hours.
- ✗ You can't take a real day off — the business stops the moment you do.
- ✗ You want to grow, but there's no time left to plan, market, or scale.

Here's what's possible when you put the right systems in place:

A real website. An automated Messenger. An AI assistant. Working for you, 24/7.

A Website That Works While You Sleep

A real website that answers questions, shows your offer, and takes bookings — all on its own.

1

Customers find you 24/7

Even at 3am, when your Messenger is offline and you're asleep, your website is working — answering questions and taking bookings.

2

All your info in one place

Prices, menu, services, booking — no more re-explaining the same thing in every DM. Send them the link, save your time.

3

Looks more professional than a Facebook page

A real website tells customers you're a serious business. It builds trust before they even message you.

4

Built-in booking — customers book themselves

No more back-and-forth DMs to confirm dates, times, and details. The site does it for you, automatically.

5

Shows up on Google

When someone searches 'best [your business] near me,' you want to be there. A website makes that possible.

A Messenger Bot That Replies Instantly

Automated replies that handle the repetitive stuff — so you stop answering the same question 50 times a day.

1

Replies to FAQs in seconds

'Are you open?' 'How much?' 'Do you deliver?' — all answered instantly, even when you're busy or offline.

2

Works 24/7 — even at 2am

A customer messaging at midnight gets a reply. They don't wait. They don't go to your competitor instead.

3

Captures leads automatically

Names, phone numbers, what they want — collected and saved, ready for you to follow up when it matters.

4

Follows up with people who didn't book

That customer who asked about prices and disappeared? The bot nudges them back. You get bookings you would've lost.

5

You only handle the REAL conversations

The bot handles the basics. You step in only for serious inquiries — the ones actually worth your time.

An AI Assistant Trained on YOUR Business

Not a generic chatbot. An AI that knows your business — and can actually talk to your customers.

1

Trained on YOUR business

Knows your menu, prices, services, and policies — answers just like a well-trained employee would.

2

Handles real conversations, not just scripted FAQs

Understands what customers actually mean, even when they ask weird or off-script questions.

3

Works across every channel

Your website, Messenger, Instagram, WhatsApp — one AI brain answering everywhere, staying consistent.

4

Speaks your customer's language

Taglish, Filipino, English, or a mix — it replies naturally, however your customers actually talk.

5

Gets smarter the more it works

Every conversation makes it better. It learns your business, your tone, your customers — and keeps improving.
